What the template did

The template is the group of players most managers own. 2 of the 15 most-owned players scored 2 points or fewer, and the average was 7.1.

Your points came mostly from Groß 17, João Pedro 12, Haaland 9. Your two most expensive starters, Haaland and Palmer, cost £25.0m together and scored 14 points between them.

Your bench scored 28 points you could not use. Gvardiol got 11, Gibbs-White got 8. Had you played a Bench Boost this week you would be on 302 points and seventh.

Chips

4 managers played a chip this week: Will Kenji (free hit), Blake Greig Canty (wildcard), Dhananjay Pandya (wildcard), Steven Kunej (wildcard). The best manager who kept theirs is Vishal Perera in first.

Everyone gets the same chips. Playing one early is a bet on a high-scoring week. It does not make those managers better, it means they have one fewer left, and you still hold yours.

What the best managers did

I ranked every manager by their median finish over the last five seasons, because the median rewards being good every year rather than one lucky season.

#	Manager	Median finish	Rank now	Season points
1	Will Kenji	151,489	6	303
2	harrison white	151,736	8	292
3	Kieren Khatri	192,647	12	274
4	Wes Towner	343,588	7	301
5	Vishal Perera	360,721	1	349
6	Dhananjay Pandya	457,742	13	274

The five most consistent managers sit first, sixth, seventh, eighth and 12th. A single gameweek tells you almost nothing about who is good.

The durable pattern is the money. Those five carry about £32.2m in midfield against your £28.5m, a gap of £3.7m, and keep defence near £15.5m against your £15.0m.

Where the numbers come from

The official Fantasy Premier League API, pulled after every match in Gameweek 4 finished. Rebuild them with `scripts/league_report.py` then `scripts/league_story.py`. The raw responses are archived under `data/snapshots/`, because the API deletes them when the season rolls over.
