
GAMEWEEK 2 · BUY-IN BALLER LEAGUE · UPDATED

How your team stacks up

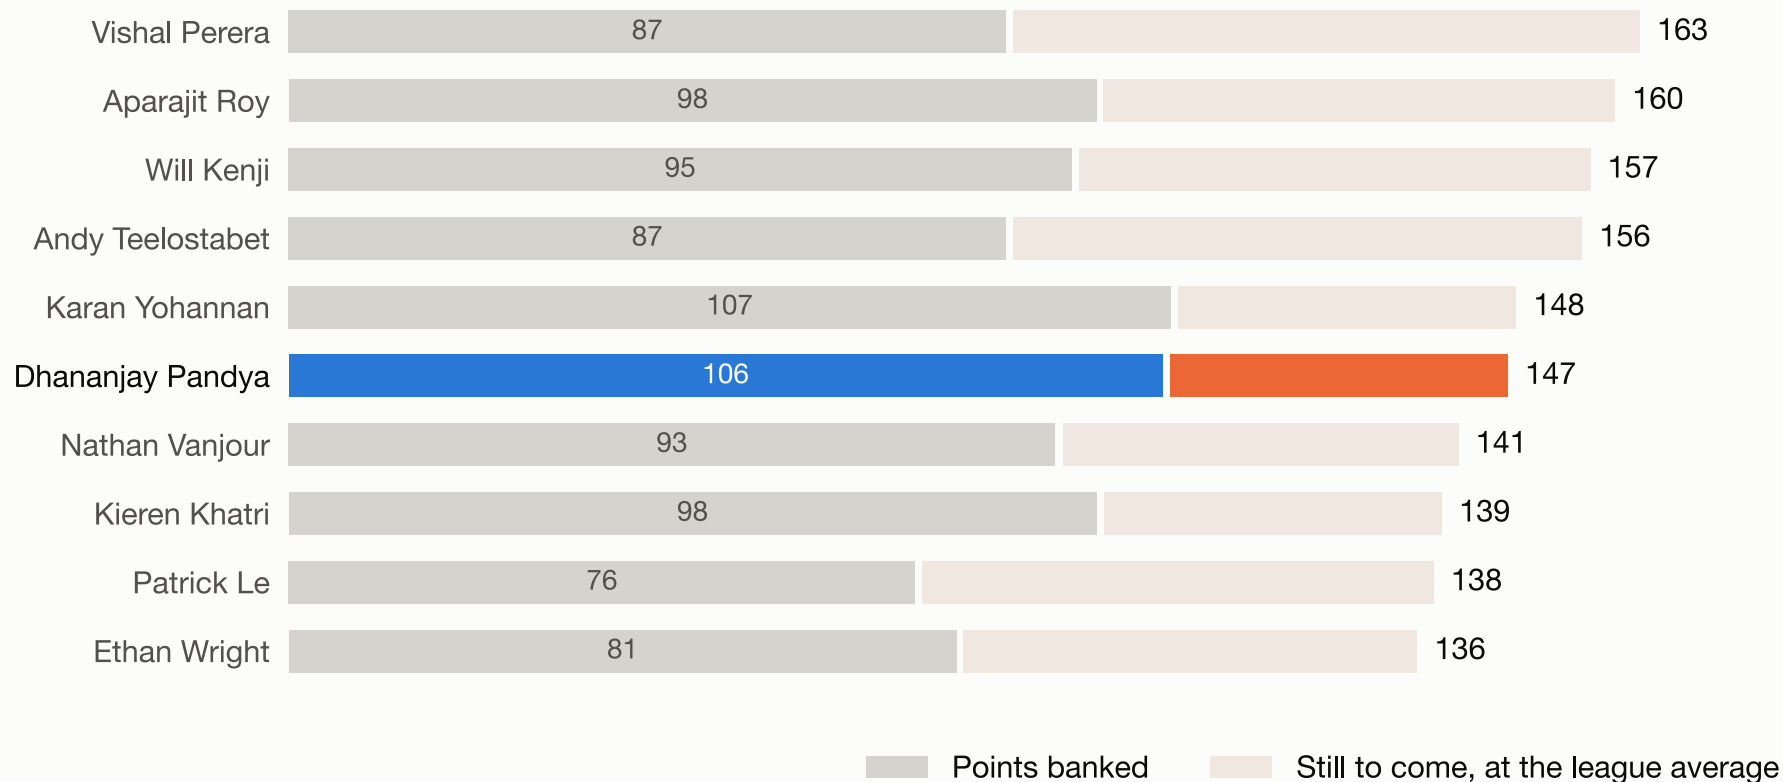

Dhananjay Pandya · 22 managers · 5 of 10 matches played. Read the titles alone and you have the whole story. The appendix holds the detail.

You have climbed from 4th to 2nd of 22

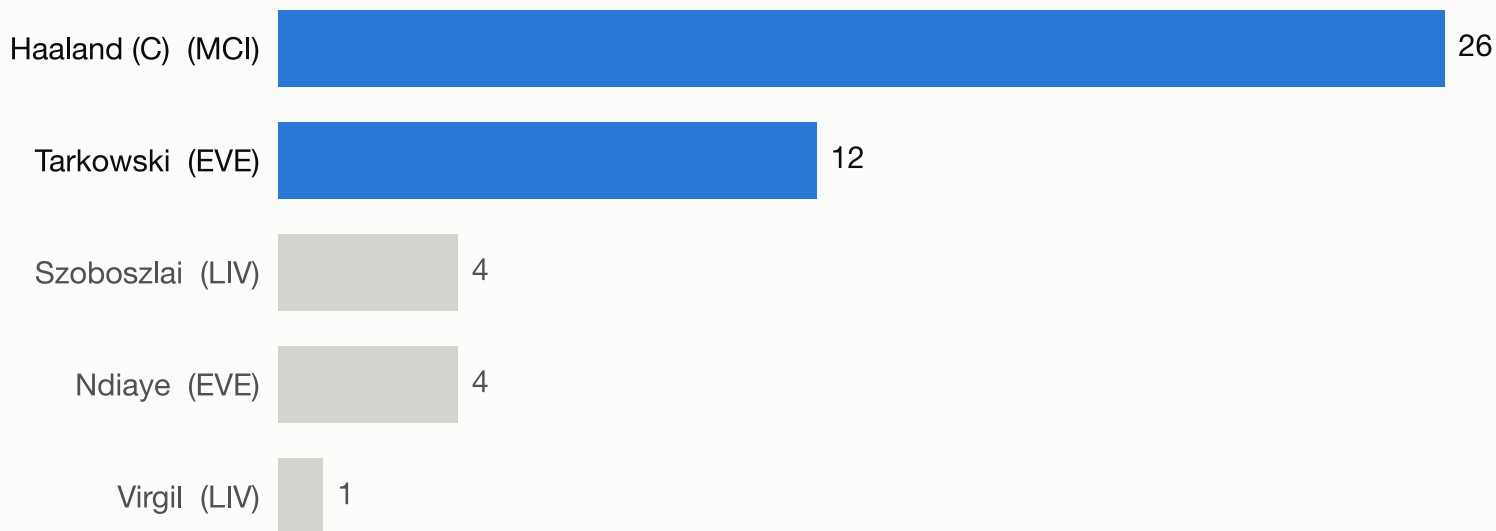

Total points so far this season

But you are 6th once you count who still has players to play

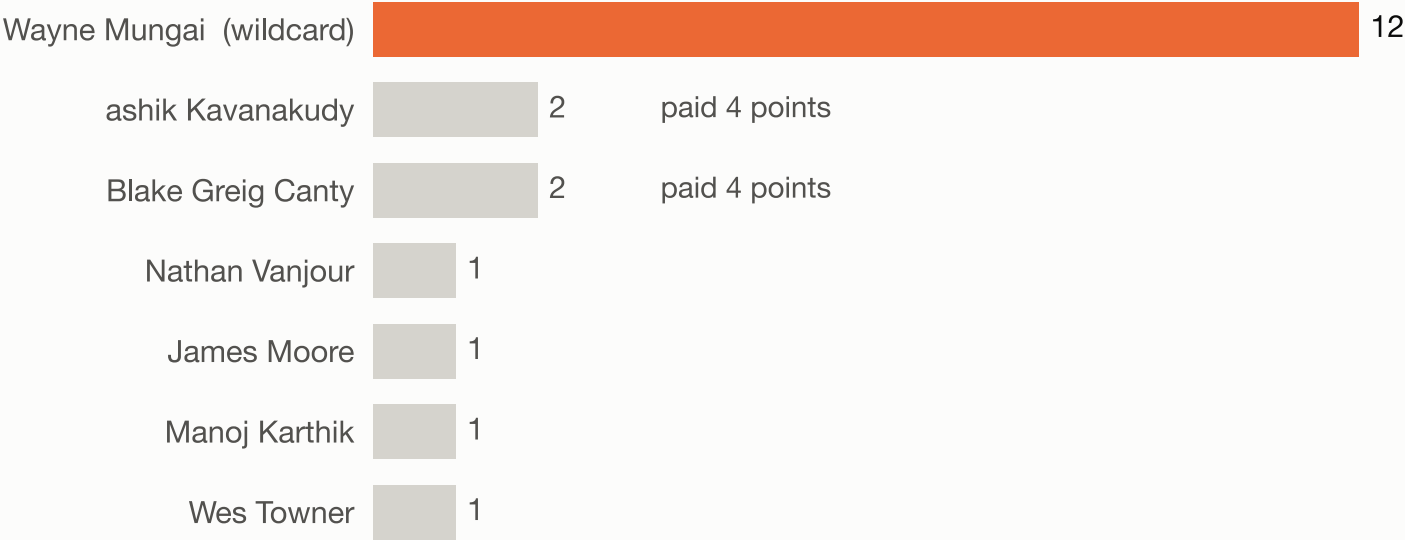

Gameweek 2: 5 of 10 matches played. Scores are provisional until bonus points are confirmed. The lighter bar assumes every remaining player scores the league average. It levels the comparison; it is not a forecast.

Haaland and Tarkowski have given you 38 of your 47 points

Points each has given you in Gameweek 2

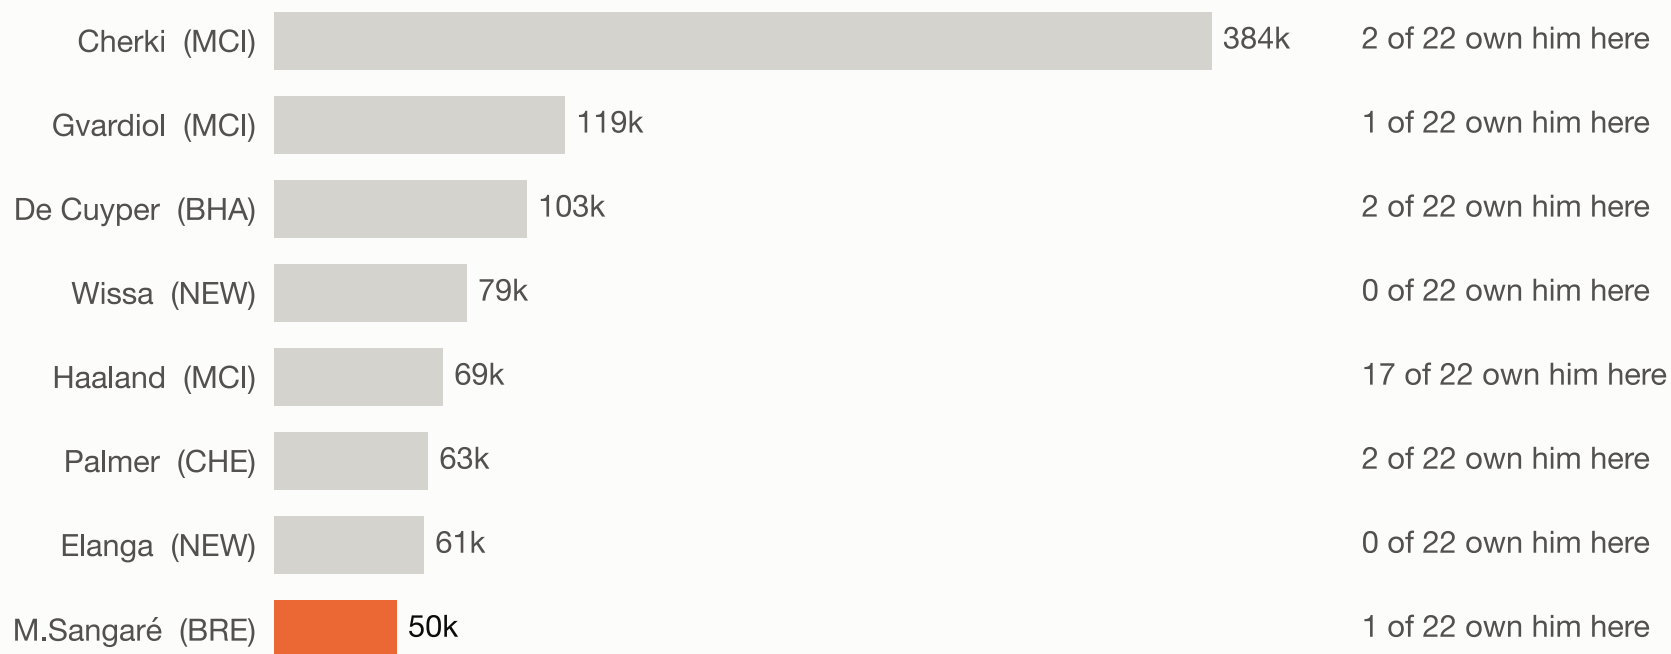

15 of the 22 managers made no transfer at all this week

Transfers made this gameweek

Gameweek 2: 5 of 10 matches played. Scores are provisional until bonus points are confirmed. 2 paid a points hit.

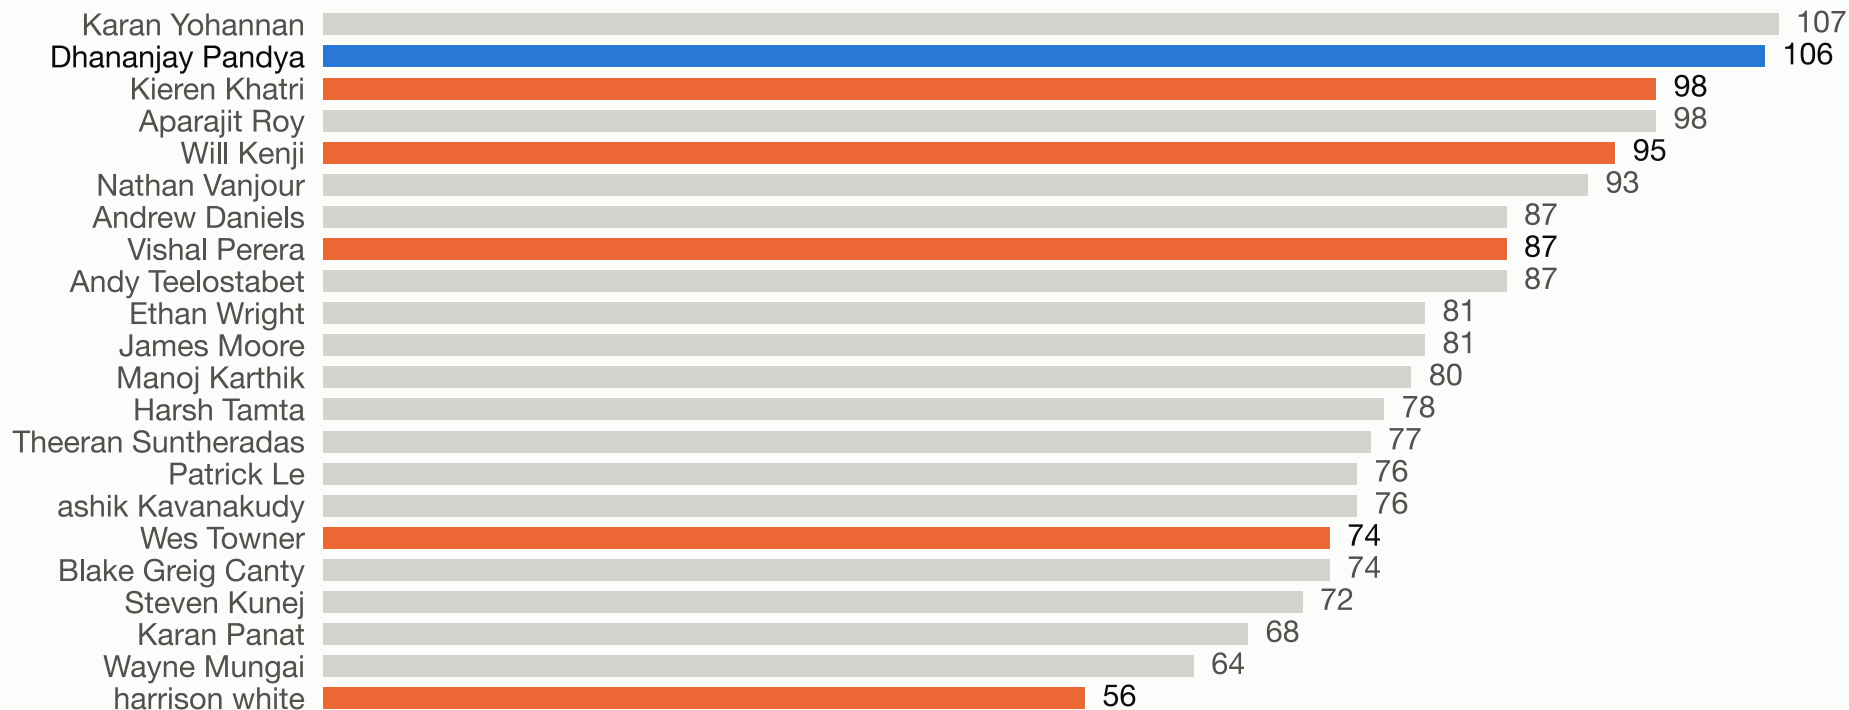

The Sangaré bandwagon has already cooled, and Cherki is the new one

Transfers in across the whole game, for Gameweek 3

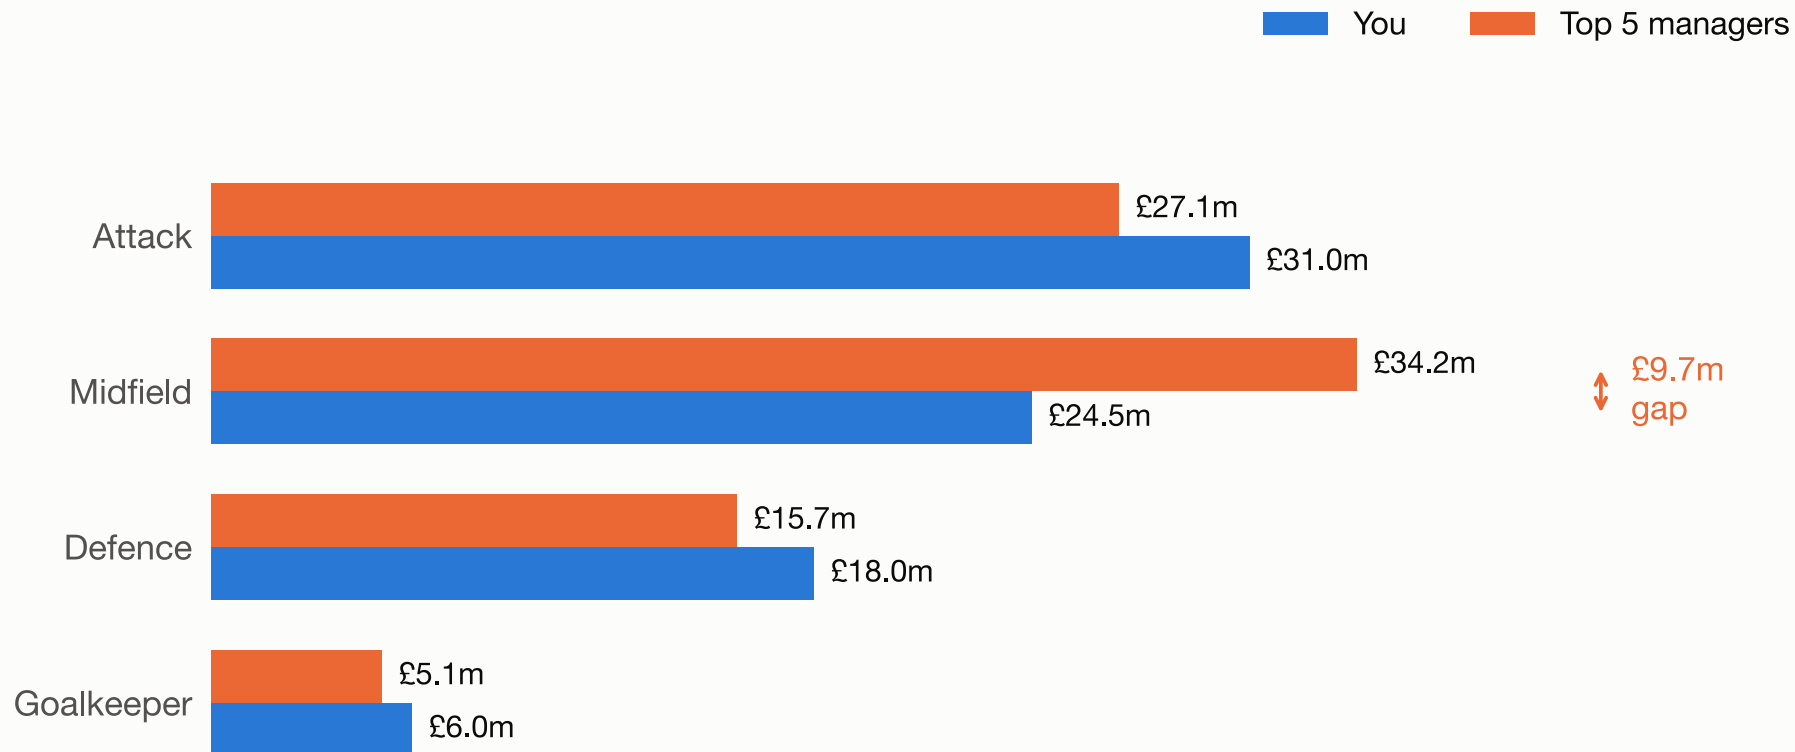

Gameweek 2: 5 of 10 matches played. Scores are provisional until bonus points are confirmed. Orange marks Sangaré. Only 1 of 22 here owns him.

1 of the five most consistent managers are already in the top four

Total points so far this season

They still put £10m more than you into midfield

Gameweek 2: 5 of 10 matches played. Scores are provisional until bonus points are confirmed.

Appendix

Where things stand

5 of the 10 matches in Gameweek 2 have been played. You are second of 22 on 106 points, up from fourth on 85. You made no transfer, which was your plan.

#	Manager	Points	Transfers	Hit	Defence	Midfield	Attack
1	Karan Yohannan	107	0	—	£31.0m	£22.5m	£23.0m
2	Dhananjay Pandya	106	0	—	£18.0m	£24.5m	£31.0m
3	Kieren Khatri	98	0	—	£16.5m	£30.5m	£32.0m
3	Aparajit Roy	98	0	—	£20.5m	£25.5m	£29.0m
5	Will Kenji	95	0	—	£15.5m	£32.0m	£29.0m
6	Nathan Vanjour	93	1	—	£19.0m	£33.5m	£21.5m
7	Andrew Daniels	87	0	—	£25.0m	£29.0m	£23.0m
7	Vishal Perera	87	0	—	£14.5m	£32.5m	£29.0m
7	Andy Teelostabet	87	0	—	£18.0m	£35.5m	£23.0m
10	Ethan Wright	81	0	—	£15.5m	£31.5m	£29.0m
11	James Moore	81	1	—	£19.5m	£28.5m	£22.5m
12	Manoj Karthik	80	1	—	£14.0m	£36.5m	£24.5m
13	Harsh Tamta	78	0	—	£21.0m	£31.0m	£23.0m
14	Theeran Suntheradas	77	0	—	£17.0m	£30.0m	£30.0m
15	Patrick Le	76	0	—	£15.5m	£32.5m	£29.0m
16	ashik Kavanakudy	76	2	−4	£16.0m	£36.5m	£21.5m
17	Wes Towner	74	1	—	£16.0m	£42.5m	£16.5m
18	Blake Greig Canty	74	2	−4	£23.5m	£31.0m	£23.0m

#	Manager	Points	Transfers	Hit	Defence	Midfield	Attack
19	Steven Kunej	72	0	—	£19.5m	£30.5m	£27.0m
20	Karan Panat	68	0	—	£29.5m	£27.5m	£16.5m
21	Wayne Mungai	64	12	—	£18.5m	£38.5m	£13.5m
22	harrison white	56	0	—	£16.0m	£33.5m	£29.0m

Why second place is not really second place

A mid-gameweek table flatters whoever happens to have played more of their squad. You have had 5 of your 11 starters play. Vishal Perera has had 1.

To compare fairly, give every manager's remaining players the league average of 6.9 points each and see where the table lands. On that basis you are sixth, not second.

Projected	Manager	Points now	Players still to play	Projected total
1	Vishal Perera	87	11	163
2	Aparajit Roy	98	9	160
3	Will Kenji	95	9	157
4	Andy Teelostabet	87	10	156
5	Karan Yohannan	107	6	148
6	Dhananjay Pandya	106	6	147
7	Nathan Vanjour	93	7	141
8	Kieren Khatri	98	6	139
9	Patrick Le	76	9	138
10	Ethan Wright	81	8	136

This is a levelling assumption, not a forecast. It does not know which players are left or who they face. Its only job is to stop you reading a lead that is really just a scheduling accident.

This is the same trap I fell into in Gameweek 1, when I told you the finishing order was settled after checking only the managers nearest you. Karan Yohannan then gained 25 points in the final match and climbed from fifteenth to join you. The fix is to always count what is still to come across the whole table.

The league mostly stood still

15 of the 22 managers made no transfer at all. Only 7 moved. You were in the larger group.

Manager	Moves	Hit	Chip	In	Out
Wayne Mungai	12	—	Wildcard	M.Sangaré, João Pedro, Cherki, Kayode, Evanilson, Szoboszlai, Tzolis, Stach, Gabriel, Mendy, De Cuyper, Kinsky	Stach, Watkins, Ndoye, Konsa, David, Wirtz, Rogers, Semenyo, Maguire, Kerkez, Virgil, Sánchez
ashik Kavanakudy	2	−4	—	Calafiori, Trafford	Colwill, Raya
Blake Greig Canty	2	−4	—	João Pedro, Hall	Brobbey, Senesi
Nathan Vanjour	1	—	—	N.Williams	Konsa
James Moore	1	—	—	Tzolis	Gibbs-White
Manoj Karthik	1	—	—	Mitchell	Greaves
Wes Towner	1	—	—	Gvardiol	O'Brien

2 managers paid a points hit to make an extra move, costing 8 points between them. A hit means giving up 4 points for a transfer beyond the free one, so it only pays if the new player beats the old one by more than 4.

Wayne Mungai played a Wildcard and made 12 moves. A wildcard allows unlimited free transfers, so it does not cost points, but it is one of only two available all season.

A note on how this was counted. FPL reports a manager's transfer count as zero when they play a wildcard, even if they rebuilt the whole squad. Counting that field alone would have missed 12 moves, so these numbers come from each manager's full transfer log instead.

The bandwagon, and who actually got on it

These are the most-bought players across the entire game right now. One thing to be careful about: this counter resets at every deadline, so with Gameweek 2 under way it is already counting moves being made for Gameweek 3, not the ones made for this week. The last column is what matters to you: how many of your 22 rivals actually own each player.

Player	Club	Price	Bought across the game	Owned in your league
Cherki	MCI	£7.6m	384,241	2 of 22
Gvardiol	MCI	£5.5m	119,111	1 of 22

Player	Club	Price	Bought across the game	Owned in your league
De Cuyper	BHA	£4.6m	103,464	2 of 22
Wissa	NEW	£6.0m	78,835	0 of 22
Haaland	MCI	£15.5m	69,123	17 of 22
Palmer	CHE	£9.6m	62,995	2 of 22
Elanga	NEW	£6.0m	61,321	0 of 22
M.Sangaré	BRE	£5.6m	50,155	1 of 22

Two things stand out, and both support the decision you made.

The Sangaré bandwagon has already cooled. Before the Gameweek 2 deadline he was being bought by about 176,000 managers. He is now down to 50,155, and the crowd has moved to Cherki, who is on 384,241 after scoring 14 points. Bandwagons move faster than a transfer can pay for itself.

And the national number was never your number. Sangaré is owned by 1 of your 22 rivals. A move that looks enormous across the game can be almost invisible in a 22-manager league, and your rank depends only on these 22 people.

What the best managers are doing

#	Manager	Median finish	Rank now	Points
1	Will Kenji	151,489	5	95
2	harrison white	151,736	22	56
3	Kieren Khatri	192,647	3	98
4	Wes Towner	343,588	17	74
5	Vishal Perera	360,721	7	87
6	Dhananjay Pandya	457,742	2	106

The five most consistent managers are already spreading out again, which is the same pattern as last week. Two of them sit near the top and two near the bottom. It stays too early to read anything into it.

The structural difference has not moved, because you did not move. Those five carry about £34.2m in midfield against your £24.5m, a gap of £9.7m. They keep defence near £15.7m against your £18.0m.

What to watch

Your own plan was to wait for more information rather than spend a transfer, and this week's data supports that. Fifteen managers did the same, the biggest national bandwagon reached one team in your league, and nine of ten matches are still to play.

The question worth answering over the next three or four weeks is whether Sangaré's points come from goals and assists or from defensive contributions, because those repeat at very different rates. Defensive returns are the more repeatable of the two.

Where the numbers come from

The official Fantasy Premier League API, pulled during Gameweek 2 with 5 of 10 matches played. Transfer counts come from each manager's transfer log rather than the summary field, for the wildcard reason above. Rebuild everything with `scripts/league_report.py` then `scripts/league_story.py`.